Absurdity of Imperialism.

Senator Allison spoke as follows: To my mind all suggestions of imperial-sm, under our government, seem absurd and all fear that we are to lose our liberties and all fear that we are to lose our liberties here because congress or the prosident may mistake the powers granted to them, or that such change is possible except through revolution, should be banished from the minds of intelligent men, as, if mistakes are made, the constitution itself provides a cure through the decisions of the courts. Nothing has been done and nothing can be done ir violation of the constitution of the United States by congress, or the president, that is not subject to review by the supreme court of the United States.

The democrats in their platform seek to make this question, which they denominate "imperialism," the paramount issue in this campaign. Their platform declares that "this administration has embroiled the republic in an unnecessary war, sacrificed the lives of many of its noblest cons and placed the United States, previously known and applauded throughout the world as the champion of freedom, in the false and un-American position of crushing with military force the efforts of our former alless to achieve liberty and self-government," and characterizes our conduct as "a war or criminal aggression against the Filicriminal aggression against the Fili-

This declaration as respects the conduct of the United States in the Philippines is a political declaration having the purpose to overthrow the wise, prudent and conservative admidinstration of the republican party through President McKinley, and to secure with the election of Mr. Bryan a democratic majority in the two houses for the primary purpose of carrying out certain political ideas respecting our currency that were condemned by the election four years ago, and which, if adopted would have brought disaster to the country, and if adopted now will have a still more disastrous effect.

It is an established principle of international law that when territory is ceded from one country to another the allegiance of the inhabitants passes with the training for unless exceptions are made in the treaty listed. In the treaty with Spain it was provided that "the civil rights and political status of the territory ceded shall be determined by the congress."

For nearly four years California was governed under military authority, and New Mexico was so governed, yet no charge was made that her people were appreased by this temporary military government. The territory now embraced within New Mexico and Arizona has been governed by acts of congress either directly or indirectly since the close of the Mexican war for a period of more than fifty years. Aluska has been so governed since its acquisition in 1807 from Russia, and yet no complaint has come as to the establishment of an empire either in New Mexico. Arizona or Aluska. So if it is imperialism to govern temporarily under military suthority the Philippines until congress shall act, it was also imperialism for Thomas I deferson in Louistana, for James Monroe in Florida and all the other presidents who have exercised this authority from their time until now.

Council Bluffs, ia. Aug. 5, 1899—Cole & Cole: We bought Cole's Original Hot Blast last November, No. 80, and used it all winter, heating two rooms about 12x14. It holds fire just as well as a hard coal stove. We could always heat up the house for at least an hour every morning before putting in fresh coal. It gives a very even, itself heat with but little attention, and it didn't use over half the fuel we formerly used. Our walls and celling were left perfectly clean after burning soft coal all winter, and to look in the stove when burning with top draft yen would not exchange it for any other stove we ever used and gladly recommend it to others.
